Sometimes Captain Max Robichaux fights by the book and sometimes he throws the book away. This makes him one of the Union Space Navys rising stars. It's also what has kept him and his green crew alive thus far. When Max and his ship, the twenty-fourth-century space destroyer USS Cumberland, are boxed in by eight enemy battleships, the odds are against them at a million to one. It takes all their skill and guts just to escape and surviving won't get easier. Sent on a covert mission behind enemy lines, Max and his crew are poised to strike a blow so hard that, if successful, it could turn the tide of the war. But if they fail, it will cost them their lives and the lives of every human in the galaxy.

Biographie de l'auteur
H. Paul Honsinger is a retired attorney. Born and raised in Lake Charles, Louisiana, he is a graduate of Lake Charles High School, the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, and Louisiana State University Law School in Baton Rouge.

Honsinger currently lives in Lake Havasu City, Arizona, with his beloved wife, Kathleen, and stepson, Chris, as well as two highly eccentric cats. His hobbies include astronomy, military history, and the history of the Apollo program. He also devotes time to cheering on his daughter, Sarah, who is a music major at a California university. Brothers in Valor is the third novel in his Man of War series, which also includes To Honor You Call Us and For Honor We Stand. The Man of War series is the beginning of what Honsinger hopes to be a long series of novels detailing the adventures of Max Robichaux and Ibrahim Sahin in the Union Space Navy.
