Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurA Richard Judy Book Club PickNew York Times Bestseller Sara has never left Sweden but at the age of 28 she decides its time. She cashes in her savings, packs a suitcase full of books and sets off for Broken Wheel, Iowa, a town where she knows nobody.Sara quickly realises that Broken Wheel is in desperate need of some adventure, a dose of self-help and perhaps a little romance, too. In short, this is a town in need of a bookshop.With a little help from the locals, Sara sets up Broken Wheels first bookstore. The shop might be a little quirky but then again, so is Sara. And as Broken Wheels story begins to take shape, there are some surprises in store for Sara too "The perfect summer read' StylistRevue de presse"A charmingly offbeat, genuinely amusing novel... the perfect summer read" (Stylist)"Katarina Bivald has written an absolutely delightful, charming book that celebrates the healing power of friendship and love often found in small towns. The Readers of Broken Wheel Recommend is thoroughly enjoyable from start to finish, and I could not recommend it more highly" (Fannie Flagg, author of Fried Green Tomatoes at the Whistle Stop Cafe)"This adorable book is a peach. Its built on the same lines as Cold Comfort Farm or Chocolat... Wise, thoughtful, funny, warm, moving; all that stuff and more" (Wendy Holden Daily Mail)"This is a story about community, about being needed and about belonging... A warm, cosy, compassionate read" (Independent)"A manifesto for booksellers, booklovers, and friendship. We should all celebrate these little bookstores, where our souls find home... one of these books you want to live in for a while" (Nina George, author of The Little Paris Bookshop)"I was captivated by this tale of books, friendship and the search for happy endings" (Woman Home)"A heartwarming tale about literature's power to transform" (People)"A celebration of people who read to help them survive and thrive" (Sainsbury's Magazine)"A heartwarming and utterly charming debut... This gentle, intelligent Midwestern tale will captivate... An ideal book group selection, it reminds us why we are book lovers and why it's nice to read a few happy endings" (Library Journal, starred review)"Bivald encourages us to look for adventure in both literature and life... Charming" (Lady)"An international bestseller, this quirky, offbeat novel about books, with its wry humour and wonderful characters, is a delicious read" (Choice Magazine)"Charmingly original....sweet, quirky" (Washington Post)"This is a charming novel for book lovers from all walks of life As you journey through the pages, weaving Little Women, Harry Potter, Jodi Picoult, Jane Austen, Steig Larsson and Proust around the storyline, youll find yourself rooting for the beautifully drawn characters, smiling at the wry humour and applauding the ending" (Candis Magazine)"Charming and relatable" (Mel Mitchell Nudge)"Youll love it" (Catherine Small Irish News)Prsentation de l'diteurA Richard Judy Book Club PickNew York Times Bestseller Sara has never left Sweden but at the age of 28 she decides its time.
